

Job and Recruitment Scam Patterns

Synthetic demonstration knowledge-base document for ScamHunter AI RAG testing.

Common signals

Unexpected recruitment messages, requests for upfront fees, requests for sensitive identity documents before a legitimate hiring stage, and unrealistic compensation can be warning signals.

Equipment schemes

A supposed employer may send a check or request that the applicant purchase equipment from a specified seller. Verify the employer independently before sending money.

Verification

Use the organization's official careers page or independently sourced contact details to verify the vacancy.